WESTERLY

Resolutions disapproving the action of Senator Albert H. Langworthy of Westerly, and commending the action of Senator Troy of Providence, were passed at the convention of the Rhode Island branch of the American Federation of Labor at the closing session of the seventeenth annual convention in Stillman hall, Westerly, Sunday evening. A resolution was adopted protesting against the government's action in prohibiting the manufacture of beer and light wine as a wartime measure on the ground that it was a measure to deprive the workers of employment. Another resolution urged that if beer and light wine were to be suppressed, the drinks of the "near-beer" variety be included in order to conserve the food products. A resolution favorable to state ownership of the electric power department was also adopted. The election of labor men to school committees. Another resolution asked Secretary of Labor Wilson to request the federal government to adjust the differences between the textile workers and their employers.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Charles J. Quirk of Providence; third vice president, Frank E. Fairbanks of Woonsocket; fourth vice president, Christopher M. Dunn, fifth vice president, Peter J. Skeffington of Providence; sixth vice president, William J. Guest of Providence; seventh vice president, George E. Spooner of Pawtucket; eighth vice president, Edward Sawyer of Westerly; ninth vice president, Frank Gaffney of Pawtucket; tenth vice president, John H. Carley, secretary, Joseph Gray, Pawtucket; organizer, William J. Guest, Roderick A. McGarry and John H. Powers, legislative committee.

It was voted to hold a convention in Providence in March. John H. Carley, a recently retired fireman of Providence, who died Friday at his home in Onayville, was born in Westerly, and before joining the Providence fire department was clerk in the store of Otis Chapman and at the Foster house. He was a member of Westerly fire department and made it a point to always participate in the inspection and parade of the local department, always accompanied by some friend of the Providence department. He was a member of Company B Westerly Rifles, and although in Providence for many years he continued to be generally known in his old home town as brother of Lieut. David Carley, formerly of Norwich, and who was in charge of the carpenter work in the construction of the Westerly town hall.

Mr. Carley had been a member of the Providence fire department for more than twenty years. He was taken ill a few days before he returned from the Rhode Island hospital to his home the day before his death. He leaves a widow and daughter.

He was appointed a substitute in the Providence fire department June 22, 1917, and Jan. 22, 1918, was assigned to Hook No. 2 at Main street. He remained there until April 15, 1919, when he was sent to Hook and Ladder company No. 4, at Main street. He was a member of the Hook and Ladder No. 2, Harrison street. He was with that company when he became ill. Mr. Carley was retired on a pension Aug. 23 last.

Sheriff John R. Wilcox did a fine bit of police service Sunday afternoon. In the morning a thief entered the residence of Mrs. J. E. D. Carley, at Main street, and stole a diamond brooch valued at $100, two rings valued at $50 and $75, an amethyst brooch valued at $50 and two watches of the same value.

Sheriff Wilcox was notified and with Deputy Sheriff Mitchell commenced work on the case. Near Combs' home in Westerly, a car was seen. The sheriff stopped the automobile and asked the stranger the road to Westerly. The man was taken to the police station and searched and recovered the stolen cash and jewelry.

The man was arrested and taken before Judge Wilcox. He was charged with larceny and his age was 23, but declined to give his address. He was held in default of a bond of $1,000 to appear in the third district court at Westerly Sept. 27, he was committed to Kingston jail.

Alexander Smith, who resided in Newton avenue, Westerly, and who enlisted in the Canadian army December 14, 1917, was killed in action Aug. 9. He was 31 years of age, and resided at the home of Mrs. John Steinhilber when he enlisted with Alexander Addes. His home is in Aberdeen, Scotland, where his parents reside. He is the third member of his family who have died of wounds received on the battle of Vim.

The grand jury of the superior court in session at Kingston, returned indictments in these cases Monday: Against Frank Sales of Westerly, for assaulting Freda Pardo with a knife; April 24, against Owen H. Brown of George Brown, for theft of automobile at Narragansett Pier. When arrested, Brown pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the state workhouse for a period of five years.

GET NEW KIDNEYS!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and growing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen. One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure. You can almost certainly find immediate relief in GOLD MEDAL HAZELDEN Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes.
